

GREG COFFIN

PGA Master Professional

Founder, Peak Performance Golf

My name is Greg Coffin, PGA of America Master Teaching Professional and Founder of Peak Performance Golf.

I began my instructional career in 1995 after playing NCAA golf and competing on various mini tours. Since then, I have helped thousands of golfers from around the world, of all ages and skill levels, improve their games and achieve their personal goals.

After five years as Director of Instruction for Ken Venturi Golf Academies, I founded Peak Performance Golf in 2005. Our mission is to provide exceptional instruction through personalized coaching that helps each student build confidence, develop skills, and enjoy greater success on the course.

In 2010, I launched the Peak Performance Golf Junior Academy. The program has helped numerous junior golfers advance to collegiate golf, and our work with young players has earned PGA Youth Player Development Awards.

My credentials also include certification as a golf instructor and junior coach through the Titleist Performance Institute, as well as certification in K-Vest biomechanics.

Throughout my career, I have been fortunate to work with and learn from outstanding instructors, including Ken Venturi and Wally Armstrong. Their influence helped shape my teaching philosophy: there is more than one way to swing a golf club effectively. Successful instruction respects each golfer's individual abilities while developing the fundamentals and movement patterns that support an efficient, repeatable swing.

Today, Peak Performance Golf delivers the gold standard in golf instruction at seven facilities across Central Florida, helping golfers of every level maximize their potential.
